2025 Individual Tax Payment Allocation

Juan Diaz & Mariaelena Diaz

PROPOSED — SUBJECT TO APPROVAL

1 What each of us still needs to pay

Federal + California, after payments already made

Juan Diaz

STILL TO PAY $44,577

Federal	$29,632
California	$14,945
Total to pay	$44,577

Already paid: $0 — No payments made yet

Mariaelena Diaz

STILL TO PAY $72,276

Federal	$64,882
California	$7,394
Total to pay	$72,276

Already paid: $46,000 — $42,000 fed + $4,000 CA

2 Breakdown by tax

Federal and California shown separately

FEDERAL	Juan	Mariaelena	Together
Total owed	$29,632	$106,882	$136,514
Already paid	$0	-$42,000	-$42,000
Still to pay	$29,632	$64,882	$94,514

CALIFORNIA	Juan	Mariaelena	Together
Total owed	$14,945	$11,394	$26,339
Already paid	$0	-$4,000	-$4,000
Still to pay	$14,945	$7,394	$22,339

3 How Mariaelena's amount is figured

Total she owed		Already paid		Still to pay
$118,276	—	$46,000	=	$72,276
$106,882 fed + $11,394 CA		$42,000 fed + $4,000 CA		Do not subtract $46,000 again

4 What we owe together

Owed before payments	Already paid (Mariaelena)	Still to pay together
$162,853	$46,000	$116,853

5 Good to know

- Mariaelena gets credit for the full $42,000 federal and $4,000 California payments. They are not split between us.
- The $46,000 is already taken off her amount. Do not subtract it again.
- Together we still owe $116,853, which matches the prepared 2025 tax returns.
- This is how we split the bill between us. It is not a separate bill from the IRS or California FTB.
- These are estimates, not certified tax calculations. The California split is not yet fully checked against the rental loss carryovers.
- Nothing is final until Juan and Mariaelena both approve.